By a strong spirit, the "West End" Daily Vacation Bible School at the First Presbyterian Church broke into the lead this morning, in the triangular contest for attendance, having the better of the New Boston School, by the count margin of 2 pupils.

Butler of Trinity Church is scheduled for a special talk.

The "West End" school got down to serious work this morning, the spirit high, the discipline excellent. The classes in sewing under the direction of Miss Caroline Mackay and Miss Yuge Geer, are busily engaged in making sewing-bags, which is the preliminary step in this department of activity, the bags being most essential articles, and the work giving each teacher an opportunity to judge of the sewing ability of their pupils. The more ambitious sewing work will depend largely upon the choice of the girls themselves. Rev. J. B. Cartwright of Central Presbyterian, a new member of the staff, made a brief talk to the school at the opening session, and was warmly applauded. The Bible story in story of David, the initial episode covering the carrying away of the Hebrews into exile, and the choice of the four young boys to sit at the king's table.

The largest attendance of the week is expected for that morning. Next week the roll will probably be closed, as the present enrollment is about all any corps of teachers can properly handle.

The New Boston girls are working hard with their sewing. Under the direction of Mrs. Rowe, the older girls are making bungalow aprons, while Mrs. Britton is supervising the making of princess slips and small aprons. Plans are under way for a special

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETING CLOSES

Hot weather caused the Portsmouth District Epworth League session at the church to close one half day or one session earlier than the program called for. The delegates were anxious to return to their homes and it was decided to close the district meeting with last night's session instead of holding it over until this morning. The program called for the convention to close at 11:30 a. m. today.

The election of officers was supposed to have been held this morning but this was dispensed with the old officers to continue in their work. Duesed Balsiger and Miss Eva O'Brien of Maury are President and Secretary of the District organization.

The Tuesday afternoon session was filled with several interesting and helpful talks. The first talk of the afternoon was on "The Epworth League in the Village and Rural Church" Rev. C. W. Harrison of Smith Webster handling this subject. He stressed the importance of the work that may be carried on by the young people of the League and what their example may lead others to do in the pathways of right.

"The Epworth League Institute" was the subject given to Rev. J. C. Wolfe, who discussed the good obtained by all who took part in the League institutes where many plans are advanced for a betterment of the work.

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, Jr., of Jackson was unable to be present on account of illness.

The main address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Louise Mead of Pataskala. She is Superintendent of the Junior E. L. Zanesville District. Mrs. Mead is a specialist in this work and in her remarks stressed the importance of having a junior league in connection with the League for young men and young women.

Supper was served at the church with Misses Fontella Warman, Anna Busch and Helen Crabtree of Maury League in charge.

The final session started at 6:45 p. m. with a devotional and song service. The fourth department or recreational demonstration was not given. Mrs. Meade gave a more extensive talk on Junior League work and demonstrated what could be accomplished. She had with her an eleven year old girl who has received much training in the Junior League, she put her through a Bible test which showed that the Junior League is worth while. She urged the formation and organization for the Epworth Leagues here and in all Leagues in the District.

Rev. C. E. Dewey of Chicago, secretary of the promotion department of the central office of the Epworth League spoke in a general way of the Epworth League, its mission and benefits. He said that in the League the young people of the church receive the religious training that later brings them into the church. He said that it is usually found that the Epworth League members later become the active members and the officers of the church. He spoke of the League as a training school for the church and emphasized the importance of getting all young people of the church into the League, explaining that the League is to the church what the elementary or grammar school is to the high school and college.

If that's the case then it's YOUR fault, for you could so easily show her how to keep the family accounts. Our little booklet "Mrs. Baker's Budget" is a very interesting story of how a man and his wife overcome this difficulty. Come in and get a copy and tell your wife read it. We also have one of "The Royal Family Finance Book" here for you that will prove a real help. It's waiting for you at the Royal.

Is About Ready
For The Jury

CLEVELAND, O., June 22.—The case of former Judge William H. Mc-Gannon, charged with perjury during his trials for the murder of Harold C.
Kacy, of which he was acquitted, is expected to be in the hands of the jury tomorrow. William H. Boyd, attorney for McGannon, declared today that he expects to complete examinations of all of the defense witnesses late today or early tomorrow.

McGannon is expected to take the stand today. His story at his murder trials was that he was not present when Kacy was shot. It is on this point that the perjury charge is based, the state contending that he was present when the shooting oc-

Doty Will Case Being Heard

BRONTON, June 22.—The case of Ella Watkins against Lewis Doty et al, an action contesting the will of the late Oliver P. Doty, which will be for trial in Common Pleas court today, will be the last trial case of the May term and it is expected that by Saturday the court will recess until the September term.

The Doty will case is one of the most important of its character tried in the local court for several years involving an estate variously estimated to be worth from $100,000 to $200,000 and it will be strongly contested. Attorneys T. A. Jenkins and R. C. Reed represent the plaintiff while A. H.

Johnson, Dan C. Jones and L. R. Andrews are counsel for the defendants.
The case hinges on the validity of the purported will of the late Oliver the heirs, and it has been pending for some time.

Apple Show Is Called Off

BRONTON, June 22.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held yesterday afternoon and to which the editors of local newspapers were invited in conference, it was decided to dispense with the Apple Show for this year and to institute plans for putting the Apple Show on a permanent basis beginning with 1922.

The reason assigned for dispensing with the show this year is that the comparative failure of the apple and fruit crop this season would make it practically impossible to make any reasonable good showing in this important department of the times.

As a response to the increasing demand for a repetition of the play given by the Epworth League of Manly church entitled "An Old Fashioned Mother" on last Friday evening, it will again be presented Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock standard time. The play is pronounced by the scores who attended it as one of the best amateur productions given in the city for some time.

The cast has been chosen from the standpoint of adaptability to parts taken and under the supervision of Mrs. Alfred Herdman the moral of the play is impressively portrayed. The main plot concerns John Underhill, a country youth, who, after struggling under the handicap of evil companions for several years, is saved from the natural degrading consequences of such a life and becomes a gentleman only through the love of his old Christian mother whom he saves from the poorhouse after the other children have deserted her.

The seriousness of the play is relieved by Jerry the country lad who is always ready to "swap" something—even his girl; by the romance of Lowly Lovy Custard and John Quackenbush, who "proposes on his knotted knee," and by Wilbur Bill Plude, leader of the choir.

"An Old Fashioned Mother" furnishes an evening of intense amusement and instruction well worth the twenty-five cents admission. The play will be given in the basement of the church where no detail has been overlooked in regard to lighting effects and stage scenery. The cast for Thursday, 24th:

Deborah Underhill, A mother in Israel—Mrs. O'Brien.
Wilbur Bill Plude, Leader of the choir—Helen Crabtree.
Miss Lowly Lovy Custard, Plain sewing and gossip—Annie Busch.
Isabel Shapcott, the village belle—Helen Schultz.
Glorious Perkins, as good as gold—Fondella Varman.
Suey Plude, the widder's mite—Olga Stewart.
John Underhill, the prodigal son—William Scraggs.
Charles Underhill, the elder brother—Raymond Purtee.
Brother John Quackenbush, a sainted sepulcher—Mr. A. F. Cyfers.
Jeremiah Gosling, "Jerry", a merry heart—Howard Herdman.
Enoch Toner, an outcast and wanderer—Lester Bennett.
Quintus Todd, the county sheriff—Russell Balsiger.

Elegant in its simplicity was the wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Logan and Mr. Robert Coody Brown, which was solemnized at half after twelve today in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Logan, on East Second street, Waverly.

The ceremony took place in the living room, which was beautifully decorated in American beauty and blue with a bank of ferns, before which the bride and bridegroom stood. The impressive double ring service was read by the Rev. John Collins Jackson of this city.

The bride was simply gowned in a frock of shimmering ivory satin, with a bridal veil of tulle arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms, and complete with a shower of bride's roses. Misses Helen Jones and Ruth Dougherty were the flower girls and Samuel Youngheart of New York served as best man. Mrs. Richard D. Logan of Toledo, the matron of honor, wore a gown of turquoise blue and carried an arm bouquet of American Beauties.

For the ceremony, music was furnished by an orchestra, with sweet solo numbers by the violin and harp.

The bride, the daughter of Mary Logan of Waverly, is a popular young lady in her home town and is quite well known throughout this section. She attended school at Smith College and Ohio State University and is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. Brown occupies a responsible position with the Seaman-Brown Co., a nationally known advertising agency of New York City. The romance of the young couple had its inception at Camp Sherman, where Mr. Brown was in training. The bride and groom left this afternoon for their home in New York.

Among the out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brown, the groom's parents, from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Logan of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher of Marion, Mrs. Laura Downs, Mrs. Seymour Hill, Mrs. Clayton Butler, Mrs. Corine McCree, Messrs. Palmer Parker, of Columbus, Miss Christine Sharp of London, and Mr. Samuel Youngheart of New York.

Dr. and Mrs. Homer Robbins and son, Randolph, of Hamilton, returned to their home Tuesday afternoon, having been called here to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Robbins' sister, the late Miss Eleanor Watkins. Mrs. Robert Kline, another sister, will leave Thursday morning for her home in Georgetown, O.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gulker and Mrs. George Gulker returned to Cincinnati Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Gulker for a longer visit during which they will attend the wedding of Mr. Gulker's cousin, Mr. Clarence Rader.

The meeting of the Ashland Long Synch Club, formed by chains of years ago in the village of Sciotoville, met Tuesday in front of the guests of Mrs. Thomas L. Collett. The following article concerning the affair is taken from the fronton Register:

"The Ashland Long Synch Society, a unique women's club, composed of twelve ladies who, thirty-five years ago, were all happy young 'chums' in that cozy little village, Sciotoville, that nestles on the banks of the Ohio and Little Scioto rivers, twenty miles below fronton, are holding a session in this city today, the guests of Mrs. Thomas L. Collett, who is one of the charter members.

"The object of the society is to hold sessions about every sixty days, at the home of one of the members, and to grow reminiscent for a few hours and revel in the memories of the sweet long ago, when hope painted wonderful pictures of the future, most of which came true to this charming dozen of women. Today, memory will gild the past in rich, golden hues and the meeting will be a most happy reunion of ladies, the mental picture of faces, events, scenes and names, will be on the menu and happiness will be chairman of the meeting.

The society is exclusive, no other guests, and the refreshments simple, mental food being preferable.

"The society members, all of whom are here, are: Mrs. S. S. Halderman, President; Mrs. Gillias Holman, Mrs. Henry Boehler, Miss Mamie Smith, Mrs. F. H. Moore, all of Portsmouth; Mrs. Mack Eakins, Mrs. F. L. Sikes, Mrs. Theo. Q. Shump, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Ida B. Little, Mrs. Mary Sherman, all of Sciotoville, and Mrs. Theo. L. Collett.

Miss Lollie Anderson of Pittsburgh, formerly of this city, left today for New York, where she will sail on the new French liner, "Paris," for France, where she will take a three months' course in voice culture at the Palace Parnassien. This school is conducted by the French Government for the purpose of interesting American singers in the French schools and studios. The students are selected through the governors of the various states and Miss Anderson's selection is attributed to the place she has won in Pittsburgh music circles, since her recommendation was through the leading musicians of the city, where she studied voice while serving as organist at one of the leading churches. Lately Miss Anderson has been conducting a studio of voice culture at Pittsburgh. She was last in Portsmouth when she sang at the Community Choral recital.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson of Third street has as house guests her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dawson, and family.

Miss Maxine Foster of Gay street left today for Evansville, Ind., where she will take treatment from a specialist for injuries received in an automobile accident last fall. Mrs. Little Workman of Gallia street went to Ashland today, having been called to the bedside of her brother, John Workman, who is in a critical condition with typhoid fever at the King's Daughters Hospital.

Among the parties given for the much feted house guests of Mrs. Earl Harlan and Mrs. J. Frost Davis, was the bridge-ten at the home of Mrs. Davis on Fifth street today. Mrs. Davis, with her guest, Mrs. Frank Hunter, of Columbus, and Mrs. Egan, with Mrs. Samuel Barnes of Cambridge, received the entire of friends as they arrived and a brief reception was enjoyed before the pieces were taken at the tables for the interesting game which ensued. Officers from a distance who were welcomed for the occasion were Mrs. Wesley Kinney of Oklahoma City, the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Varner, and Mrs. Clifford Kinney of Oklahoma City, who is visiting with her mother, Mrs. J. P. Brunsburt. The daily summer frocks worn by the guests, together with an abundance of flowers used for the rooms, added much to the beauty of the delightful afternoon. Later, amid much chatting, a tempting salad course was served at the tables arranged with attractive appointments.

Other affairs being arranged for the pleasure of these two charming guests are a luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. G. Williams, and a party at "Clarendon," the summer home of Mrs. Clarence Nodder, Thursday afternoon.

THE FLAVOR LASTS!

BILLY WALKER

But before they left, Billy perceived Daisy's uncle, who was a miser, to marry them so she would have a proper protector now that the guests were without a home or master. It was decided that they should be married at once and to have a plain, rather than a large wedding. So when Stubby and Button caught up to them, they were told that they were to be Billy's best men. Two of the little kids were to be bridesmaids, Daisy having selected kids as they would be nearer the size of Stubby and Button than full grown goats.

"We must go back into the mountains for a short distance," said Billy, Jr., "to get away from the road where people are passing all the time, for we would be most likely interrupted in the middle of the ceremony."

So the flock were called together and they followed Billy up the steep side of the mountain to the very summit, where he stopped, and decided that that would be a very appropriate place for a wedding, surrounded.

As the last blessing and congratulations had been said the sun sank out of sight, and the moon, as if she knew there was a wedding going on and that they would need light, appeared at just the right moment and shed her beautiful silver light over all, even to the lake at their feet, which she sprinkled with sparkling diamonds.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

Brought to task Mrs. Randall's question seemed to Cherry to be fraught with well-voiced suspicion, curiosity and condemnation, gently though she put it. "There was an instant silence on Hamilton's part, as he waited, evidently for Cherry to answer her mother-in-law rather than himself."

"Doing," said Cherry, gaily, "having the very best time that any girl could possibly have. Mr. Hamilton was certainly a Good Samaritan in every way. Helped me through the dusty roads when I was really very tired, and gave me the loveliest tea at the dearest little old-fashioned tea shop in the world. Maybe you've been to it yourself, mother, or you know it, I'm sure."

"You mean, I presume, Peck-a-ton-tan?" answered Mrs. Randall. "The small tavern affair just outside the village? Yes, I have been there several times. Cherry, Miss Case, who owns the place, knows me very well. Dear, dear, I do hope she will not start to gossip about your being there without Ned. Old maids' tongues will wag, as we all know to our sorrow. I should think that you would have remembered Miss Case's reputation for scandal-mongering, Mr. Hamilton?" she finished, looking pointedly at that young man's direction.

"Never thought about a thing," hon my word, except that Mrs. Randall, here, was tired and hungry. I was almost starving myself, having left home without any luncheon for some unknown reason. All that either of us could focus our thoughts on was food. We got it there, too. Wonderful food! As for Miss Case, she didn't of law. The belief is growing that once the court is on its feet and a going concern, the Harding administration will not hesitate to submit disputes to that body. It will be difficult for America to do so if any dispute should arise with some member of the league of nations which wants to let the international court decide the question at issue.

The purpose of the international court is to deal with purely legal questions. It is true that many wars have resulted from the failure of nations to get together on questions of law. The international court will not deal with political or strictly sentimental questions, but will render its decisions on a mass of problems which have hitherto gone unsettled and sooner or later kindled the fires of international hatred and misunderstanding.

Republicans Pledge to Court
The Republican party has again and again pledged itself to help make an international court and although the covenant of the league of nations provided for the creation of such a tribunal there were many speeches of criticism made when the peace covenant and treaty were made public and it was found that the international court was left to the future. It was partly as a result of that criticism and partly because of the desire of foreign governments to get the court started, the proponents of the plan decided not to wait for American ratification of the peace treaty but to invite Elihu Root as a private citizen and a distinguished jurist to frame a constitution for the new court. Mr. Root spent most of last summer in Europe working on the plan which is now bearing fruit. It was while Mr. Root was in London that he called Mr. Harding that it would be unwise to pronounce the league of nations "dead" for it was already proving its usefulness in making the international court a reality after years of futile effort in that direction. Mr. Harding, however, being unfamiliar with what Mr. Root was discovering on the other side of the Atlantic, made a speech shortly after the election declaring the league "dead." Mr. Harding confirmed this "fact" on but it is now of course insisted that the president was expressing an opinion only so far as the United States is concerned. In other words the league is not dead, it is still alive with respect to America and ambassador George Harvey added a sentence to the original oration recently when he said that the Harding administration would not deal with the league directly or indirectly. The foreign powers have since sent all their communications through other channels and the latest device adopted by the council of the league when it wishes to reach the American government is to address a note to the supreme council on which America is represented.

Ticknor Says He Was Tired All Day Long

Mogadore Citizen Full Of Life And Energy Now, Says Tanlac Has No Equal.

Although H. A. Ticknor, retired farmer living on R. F. D. No. 10, Mogadore, Ohio, is now past seventy-five years of age, he is in perfect health and does not hesitate to give Tanlac credit for his fine condition. Mr. Ticknor also owns considerable property in Akron and is widely known and respected. His statement will be of interest throughout the State. "I had been feeling pretty much here of late," said Mr. Ticknor, "and was generally run-down. My appetite went back on me and I couldn't relish the little I managed to eat. My nerves were all on edge and I seemed to stay unusually restless all the time. I slept poorly and felt weak and tired from morning till night."

"Reading and hearing so much about Tanlac I took a notion to see if it would suit my case. I have taken three bottles now and can truthfully say it beats anything I ever saw in my life. My appetite has come back and I enjoy three good hearty meals every day now. My nerves have been built up so I sleep like a baby and life and strength about me. Tanlac certainly has proved its worth in my case and I gladly give it my hearty endorsement."—Advertisement.

Food Club Holds Fine Meeting

Of all the meetings held by the Girls' Food Clubs of this county, none has been as successful as the group meeting held Tuesday at Wheelersburg. All the various Clubs were represented by 45 members and, six leaders and very instructive demonstrations were given in canning and baking by Miss Edith Swanson, representing the extension department of Ohio State University. She was ably assisted by Miss Carrie Davidson. The canning demonstration was given in the morning and in the afternoon there was a baking demonstration.

At the noon hour the girls enjoyed a picnic luncheon. The entertaining program included several splendid readings by Miss Alma Weber of Jackson. She is a graduate of the Newcomer's School of Expression, Northwestern University. The girls made the trip to Wheelersburg by machines.

County Agent W. P. Gaton is looking forward to one of the best canning and food fairs in the history of the county to represent Seneca at the Ohio State Fair at Columbus. The different clubs will compete for this honor at the Seneca County Fair.

OBITUARY

James David Scott

Death at 4:05 Tuesday afternoon claimed James David Scott, who passed away in Hempstead hospital, with loved ones at the bedside. Two weeks ago he was operated upon for appendicitis and while his condition was serious from the start he seemed to improve till last Sunday when he suffered a relapse and from then on until his death ensued his condition was precarious. The hardness and strength of youth could not combat the inroads of peritonitis, which had developed, made upon his weakened system and courageous, affable and popular "Jimmy" Scott is no more.

What tragic words these are to his loved ones and friends. It seems like a dream that "Jimmy" Scott has passed on in the bloom of youth. The news of his passing away came as a grievous blow to his legion of friends, who firmly believed that he would win against death but it was not to be and "Jimmy" has entered the portals of heaven to beautify the garden of his Master.

James David Scott was born April 15, 1903 and was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Scott of 1703 Eleventh street. They are heart-broken over the death of their loved one. One sister, Miss Helen survives also.

Everything that loving hands and medical skill could do was employed to star the hand of death, but the young man failed to rally and when complications set in the relatives were prepared for the inevitable. "Jimmy" was very popular with the student body of the Portsmouth High School, where he will be missed almost as much as he will be in his own home. He was president of the Junior class and was active in all branches of high school life. His willingness to help and his H. S. banner in all branches of athletics, his open heartedness and ungrudging smile will be missed at P. H. S. He was always looked upon as the ideal student, studious, mannerly and with consideration for others. He had many fine traits of character that stamped him as a whole-souled, congenial and lovable boy. To know "Jimmy" Scott was to like him. He had those little mannerisms that always attract. He was polite, obliging and was a veritable "pal" to his father, R. E. Scott. They were regular chums and were always happy when they were together. "Jimmy" never violated a trust his father or mother reposed in him. He was respectful at all times and it mattered not what company he was thrust in he was always courteous and mannerly. It is particularly sad that a bud of so much promise and so much consolation to his parents is plucked just when it seemed to burst into the joys of young manhood. Mr. and Mrs. Scott are comforted by the fact that their boy lived for them and died with the full knowledge that he had been given every care and was being reared into young manhood with a tenderness that was as beautiful as it was impressive.

"Jimmy" was popular in athletic circles as he was a real athlete, sturdy and with a spirit to win. Until stricken with appendicitis he was the picture of health and his passing away is hard to believe. It is one of those inscrutable acts of Providence. The sympathy of the community goes out to the grief-stricken parents.

The funeral services will be conducted from the home at 8 o'clock next Tuesday night and the list of relatives in charge of Rev. N. E. Butler. On Friday the body will be taken to Ironton where interment will take place in beautiful Woodlawn cemetery.

Colds Now—Pneumonia Later

"Keep down common colds and keep pneumonia away, which increase rapidly during the winter months," warns a prominent Chicago Physician. At the first suggestion of a cold, apply Mayr's Pine Needle Balm to the nose and check it before it has a chance to develop. This stimulating and heating balm enters the pores in the head and throat and cleans up quickly what Mayr's Pine Needle Balm is used. Sold in two sizes—30c and 60c tubes. Free trial by writing George H. Mayr, 219 West Austin Ave., Chicago.

Shaping the Budget

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 22.—Further recoveries from the recent depression were made by many popular shares at the opening of today's stock market. Oil, equipments motors and rails were the installing features. General Asphalt, Studebaker, Harvester, Hending, and Sumatra Tobacco scored early advances of one to nearly two points. Canadian Pacific, Great Northern, Rock Island, Erie, International Paper, Industrial Alcohol, United States Steel and Baldwin Locomotive also were firm to strong.

Shorts were severely punished in the broader and more comprehensive advance of the morning. Mexican Petroleum was the central feature, rising almost seven points to 115, or 12 points over its recent low. General Asphalt, common and preferred, Pan-American Petroleum and Houston Oil rose 2 1/2 to 6 points. Steels, equipments, motors and rubbers, leathers, and food shares gained 2 to 4 points. Chemicals and fertilizers also rose sharply. Virginia-Carolina Chemical advancing 6 points. Rails were active at against 1 to 2 points, junior as well as investment shares. Sears-Roebuck at a loss of almost 3 points was the only conspicuous laggard. Call money opened at 5 percent.

Stocks made further recoveries in the first half of today's session, but this advantage was largely forfeited when recurrent weakness occurred in various specialties. Sales approximated eight hundred and fifty thousand shares. The closing was heavy.

Chicago Grain

And Provisions

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 22.—New upturns in wheat prices took place today as a result of generally dry hot weather. Bullish sentiment was also promoted by strength in the New York stock market. Selling, however, broadened out on bulges and kept the market from becoming one-sided. Opening quotations which ranged from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 higher with July 12 1/2 to 1 3/4 and September 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, were followed by slight further gains and then something of a reaction, opening 1/2 to 3/4 higher, with September 65 1/2 to 67 1/2, and later scoring an additional advance.

The market receded later with wheat. Prices closed unsettled 3/4 to 1/2 net lower with September 64 1/2 to 66 1/2.

Oats were firmer reflecting the action of other cereals. After starting 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher, including September at 40 1/2 to 41, the market continued to rise.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by weakness in the hog market. The close was unsettled, at the same yesterday's finish to 3/4 lower, with July 12 1/2 to 1 3/4, and September 12 1/2 to 1 3/4.

GAMES THIS WEEK
 June 22—N. & W. vs. Excelsior.
 June 23—Central Labor vs. Selby.
 June 24—N. & W. vs. Steel Plant.
 June 25—Excelsior vs. Selby.

In a long drawn out game that was chock full of hard hitting and many errors, the Selby team wiped up the ground with the Steelmen to the tune of 8 to 5.

It was one of the Steel Plant's off days and it was plain to see that they were beaten from the very first inning, as they hit most everything Selby pitched sent up to them, getting three large runs before a man was put out.

Spence of the winners deserves a better score than is given as he pitched a mighty good game, most of the Steelmen's runs coming in on wild pitches.

The feature of the game was a mighty home run hit off the bat of G. Stuten, the ball carrying to the center field fence.

Below is a full account of the game, play by play.

1st Inning
 G. Stuten out to first. Hampt flied out to left. Devoss was present with five dollars for hitting home run June 14th and then struck out.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Webster singled to left. Hopkins hit by pitched ball. Elliott takes second on Edman's wild throw over first.

Weller scoring. Groh reaches second on G. Stuten's poor throw to the plate. Hampt struck out. Keyser out, pitcher to first—One hit, 3 runs, 1 error.

2d Inning
 Selby is given base on balls. Lewis flied out to second. W. Stuten flied out to Groh. Selby stole second. Eastman grounded out to Cooper. Stuten's poor throw to the plate, forcing Whitlatch at plate. Selby stole second. Groh taking third. Hampt struck out. Keyser out, pitcher to first—One hit, 3 runs, 1 error.

3d Inning
 Selby is given base on balls. Lewis flied out to second. W. Stuten flied out to Groh. Selby stole second. Eastman grounded out to Cooper. Stuten's poor throw to the plate, forcing Whitlatch at plate. Selby stole second. Groh taking third. Hampt struck out. Keyser out, pitcher to first—One hit, 3 runs, 1 error.

4th Inning

EXPANDING AN IDEA

BRYAN is supposed to be the author of the proposition that before this country go to war a referendum be taken, that is the people vote whether or not they want to fight. Evidently his idea has not only taken hold, but has undergone expansion for it is observed that a resolution is pending before the American federation of labor convention, declaring in favor of a referendum on war, with the provision that those voting in favor shall first be called upon to fight.

That surely is an idea running riot, as most of Bryan's ideas do, either to disastrous defeat or more disastrous failure when they are concretized into practice.

War, as a rule, especially in American history, is not a thing to be debated upon and wrangled over through a popular campaign, but a vital actuality of immediate attention. War's first essential is the concentrating of the country into one mind, the mind to win, not dividing it into hostile camps to invite defeat.

And the referendum proviso, introduced to the federation does no credit, either to the courage or the patriotism of the author. It is cowardly, as it is unpatriotic, to suggest that those who vote for war shall be the first ordered to war. The will of the majority is the duty of all. When America takes up arms, no matter whether this or that citizen thinks justly or unjustly, it becomes his bounden duty to help to his furthest ability in helping her to success, den duty to other citizen has done his service and failed, but not after some other citizen has done his service and failed, but first and at once in order that there may be no failure. The most odious creature is a slacker, he who seeks safety and profit upon the sacrifice and loss of others in their country's service.

The Phoebe, of the Flycatcher Family.
The phoebe, a small, grayish-brown bird, belongs to the flycatcher family. It takes its name from its monotonous call, "pewit, phoebe; phoebe, pewit," continuously repeated, as it flies about in search of a habitation. The phoebe preys on insects, which it captures while on the wing, and is therefore of benefit to farmers. The common phoebe is also known as pewee and as pewit. It, however, should not be confused with the wood pewee, which is a different species of flycatcher.

POLLY AND HER PALS

WOMEN IN LEAGUE

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—Nearly every class and industrial interest in the country is now organizing and opening an office in Washington for the purpose of selling congress what it wants.

Note now the feminine touch in politics. The farmers or the manufacturers are content to rent a few rooms in an office building, there to gather statistics, write letters and make plans. But the women have taken an option on one of the most beautiful buildings in the District, and they plan thereon to erect a series of handsome structures to be known collectively as the Woman's National Foundation. The fundamental purpose of this organization will be much the same as that of the farmers and manufacturers, but it will be accomplished in a different way.

Any woman in the nation who can prove that she is a citizen in good standing can belong to this Foundation. It expects soon to have a membership of a million. And when any of these women, either as individuals or as members of convoking clubs, come to Washington, they will make their headquarters at the Foundation. And there they will find not only statistics and things, but also an auditorium, reading room, swimming pool, theater, and everything else that can help to make life pleasant. In a word, the women will be given inducements to stick around this Amazonian club house, and while so doing, they will be given every opportunity to learn the great lessons of What Women Want and Why.

Purposes of the Foundation.
According to the construction of the Foundation, the purposes which this society is meant to serve are: "To promote the nation-wide civic consciousness of womanhood and every good work that may be considered civic in character or that is in any way associated with the study or advancement of civics or welfare work. In fact, the Foundation plans to embrace all that pertains to women's work in relation to good citizenship."

The famous old Dean estate, on which the Foundation is to be built, is the property of one of the oldest and best known residential families in the District of Columbia. It is a beautiful wooded tract of nine and a half acres located only a short distance from the center of the city and surrounded by some of the Capital's most famous private residences and apartment houses. This is the only spot of its size and beauty which has been left open in the mud road to find accommodations for Washington's many new residents during the past few years. It has been the nightmare of the neighborhood that the residents might wake up some morning and find their beautiful garden gone. Members of the Dean family have tried to keep this from happening and many have been the projects proposed for keeping the place with its famous old oak trees intact as a public park, but none of them proved practicable.

Miss Janet Richards, a charter member of the Woman's Foundation and well known as a lecturer and welfare worker, suggested that the Dean estate was just the place for the Foundation headquarters. Twenty-five women gave or loaned one thousand dollars each to secure the option on this land, and by December 31st of this year they hope to have in hand the necessary $100,000 to acquire title to the property.

The actual signing of the incorporation articles of the Foundation was given a picturesque interest by the fact that the 30 women signers stood under the Treaty Oak, famous in the traditions of the Dean family as the tree under which a colonial treaty between the Indians and the White settlers was signed in the early days. It is claimed that the tree is over 300 years old.

Mrs. C. C. Callum is president of the Foundation. She emphasizes the fact that this organization, which is strictly democratic in character, intends to establish an educational institution for women in which will be taught parliamentary law, civics, public speaking, languages, sociology, economics, methods of government and physical training.

It is the desire of the Foundation to induce national organizations of women to affiliate with the Foundation and have their national headquarters on its grounds.

The acreage is quite sufficient to afford space for buildings for organizations which may plan to lease the ground space for their own club centers.

Women to Finance It.
Although the option fee of $25,000 has been secured through the "donors and loaners", it is estimated that the annual dues from the hosts of women who will be eligible and take advantage of that privilege for membership in the Foundation, will be sufficient to finance the project adequately. This opinion is offered by Miss Richards, who says that, in spite of the fact that the Foundation has had many offers from New York and other business sources to finance the society, it is felt by many of the founders that if possible, the members should keep this matter in their own hands.

Non-residents of Washington will pay one dollar a year for membership. Residents of the District will be entitled to the same privileges at a fee of two dollars a year and may use the general restaurant and participate in all the advantages of the Foundation except the privileges of the club house for which the annual fee is $15.

No matter where a woman's club is located, provided it has a membership of 50 and a chairman, the chairman and one delegate can attend the annual congress. These "local centers" or chapters, are undoubtedly one of the most popular features planned by the Foundation. The great annual congress at which these centers will have representation will be held on the Foundation in the first week of May of each year.

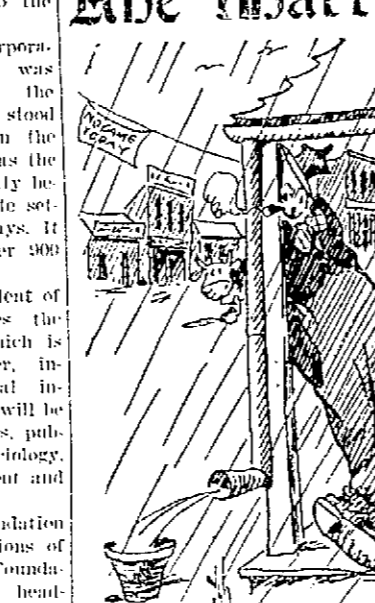

The Foundation is strictly non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-religious. This clause is not, however, to be construed as antagonizing or interfering with party affiliation or party loyalty to any of the existing political parties. On the contrary, club room facilities will be available for all groups of women who desire to study platform or other party literature.

Every woman in the United States who is in good standing in her community, or in any church, club or other organization, urban or rural, is cordially invited to become a member of the Woman's National Foundation. It is confidently predicted that more than a million women will be enrolled within the year.

"Balm of Gilead."
Balm of Gilead is the name applied to a balm or balsam of Mecca, or of Syria. It is an oil-resin, once of great repute and medicinal properties. Mixed with oil, it constitutes the chrism of the Roman Catholic church. It is the product of a tree or shrub, "commiphora balsamifera" or "Opobalsamum," which also yields myrrh. The specific name "balm of Gilead" was given to it because it was once supposed to be the Scriptural "Balm of Gilead"—an opinion probably erroneous, for it does not at present grow in Gilead, either wild or in gardens, nor has it been satisfactorily proved that it ever did. It is still found south of 22 degrees N. latitude on both sides of the Red sea, in Arabia, Abyssinia and Nubia, though it is not found in Palestine.

Cable of Human Hair.
It was the custom for church-going people in Japan to give some of their hair as a free-will offering when a temple was being built. Such a structure at Tokyo had the beams and rafters held in place by one of these human-hair cables. Placed end on end, this human-hair rope measured 4,523 feet long, was seven inches in diameter and weighed 8,847 pounds, no fewer than 350,000 persons contributing before sufficient quantity was obtained.

The Salesman's If
If you can stay away a while
From those who hold most dear,
If you can wear a pleasant smile
When all the world seems drear;
If you can look into the eyes
Of one who turns you down,
Yes as you say "good-bye,"
Do so without a frown;
If you can keep from getting blue
When competitors are keen,
And the one that's just ahead
Said every one you've seen;
If you can keep your temper
When all the world goes wrong,
And never whine or whimper,
But sing a cheerful song—
YOU ARE SOME SALESMAN!

What the Mothers Do
Collier's asks what the ordinary American woman contributes to her family, and the nation's wealth, although "she never earned any money," and then goes on to say that the cash value of her service during thirty years averages $135,485.

That sum includes the present purchase value of the preparation of meals she has served, the garments she has made, the coal, candles and pies she has baked, the letter she has churned, the scrubbing, washing, cleaning, preening, sweeping, patching and other household work she has done. It takes no account of the value of her influence in the family or the economies she has effected to save her husband's resources. Only the actual cost of her household account. And with that only in mind she has earned $3,639 a year at present prices. The cost of her keep has barely averaged $1,250 a year—it has been nearer, half that. But at that figure her actual net earnings have been $2,400 a year—$72,000 for her lifetime.

Who has that money? Her husband. He has pocketed it year after year as his own, as his personal property. The home may be in her name, but as Collier's says, she has no bank account, no savings, no property investments. What money she gets comes with no excessive willingness from the man who grabs the proceeds of her labor and economies as his own. Can a more selfish seizure of the profits of the matrimonial contract be imagined? Will women ever get their share? We hope so—by law if necessary.

Too Much Taxation Authority
We gather from former Governor Lowden's remarks at the University of Chicago that he feels toward the various bodies given authority to impose taxes something of the same dislike one has for a pickpocket. In this he shares a common sentiment among his fellow countrymen. The real reason for this justified resentment is that it is, in fact, a touch of off taxation without representation, and that has been unpopular in America since the Boston Tea Party.

All over the United States are communities which face municipal taxes, township taxes, school taxes, county taxes, state taxes and federal taxes of many varieties which have become altogether too common, many of them assessed by small bodies whose personal interests are wholly on the side of increasing rather than decreasing levies. In this fact, as the Governor says, is found the cause of the multiplication of unnecessary offices. The trend of the tax makers is all toward the creation of new offices, with landsome salaries attached.

What Is Vacation?
The thoughts of many minds are on this subject now, with mountains and seashores in the background. In the Independent we see that a real vacation is play. It is not a change of occupation, which is a fair definition of recreation. It is playing, doing what you wish to do, finding contentment your soul with action or inaction, as your whim leads.

Obviously, therefore, vacations should be taken alone. If one is with some other person (let us not be personal) there is restraint and influence when both do not care to do the same thing. New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 22.—The daring New York crows, so the records show, is generally the slight young fellow in the early twenties. The other evening, as New York was homebound, I saw a running fire pistol battle on Sixth Avenue, which ended in the old Knickerbocker Hotel cellar. I watched from another cellar close by.

The police emerged from the darkened cellar with male factor, torn and gasping. He had a great shock of black hair, a Broadway-style suit and a pink silk shirt. Securely handled, he was covered at the throats around him and queried: "What are you looking at?"

Between breaths he cursed his captors. A few minutes before he had gone to a jeweller's shop with a young Italian girl—his "black buzzer"—after donning a black mask. Levelled two revolvers at the jeweller. A passerby looked in, called for help and the man hunt was on.

The reason for his unusual daring was found in several little white tablets in his vest pocket. Morphine. Despite his years, he was only 23. He had a long police record, burglary, hold-up and suspected homicide. An hour before the attempted robbery he had been battered and manacled in a Forty-Fourth street shop.

They came up from the East Side, these daring young crooks, and are graduates of the cunning gangs that (blackmail) and rob small shopkeepers. Cowards, heroin and morphine habits are acquired in many instances while they are in school.

Most of them have women, with whom they live in the cheap rooming houses and with whom they share their spoils. Their lot goes to buy flashy clothes, patronize vanderbilts, the cabaret and drug sellers. Their homes are many and they rarely remain in one locality more than two weeks.

It might be humour but the little (am) shattered, short-skirted dapper didn't smile. He met her in front of Belmont's. "Are you doing anything tonight?" he inquired.

"None," she answers with an air of expectancy.

"Oh, well," he said, "you won't be tired tomorrow."

And Walter Catlett, the comedian, thinks his wife calls him a worm because she must have seen a "chicken" pick him up.

"Poker" From the Persian.
Poker is known as an American game, but it is undoubtedly an adaptation of the Persian game "as nas." It seems that this game came to the United States by way of New Orleans.

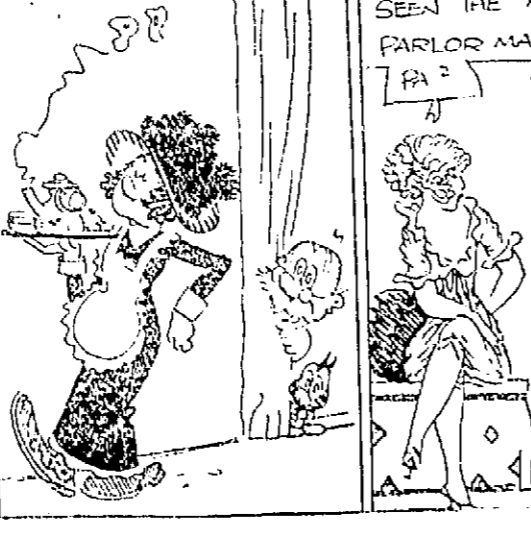

It was in some ways similar to a game already in vogue there which was called "pique," a variation of an Italian game or its French derivative, the present word "poker" is a mispronunciation of the French term, dividing it into two syllables, "po-que" and adding the "r," which is sounded out in some sections of the country.

Bandages.
Every household should keep ready bandages ready in case of accident. They should be torn from strong cotton cloth and wound tightly. Most of them of various widths and were rolled set them in a pan in the oven for a short time to sterilize them; pack in a wide-mouthed preserve jar and screw on the lid. Keep the jar in a convenient place.
